

Our response to Covid-19

Like you, and many others around the world, we have been focusing on and thinking about the changes and shifts around the world with relation to Covid-19. At times, it brings us to a loss for words, what to share, how to continue our mission of intentionally reaching out – especially to our member, but also to the public, and to the world at-large.

No matter how many times we hear the phrase “social distancing,” all we can think is we are leaning in.

We are leaning in to each other. To our work. To our friends and families. Especially those who are sick or dealing with a condition that makes you more vulnerable. We are leaning in. Sharing as much positivity as we can muster. Because we know it makes a difference. We know it matters. Our work matters.

~~~We are energy workers – and we know – even as hard as things are for many – we know everything is energy. We are not letting go of that important premise. Faith and hope are JUST as contagious as fear. Fear just feels bigger right now. Hold on to the hope and share it in waves.~~~

So, through this letter, we are reaching out to let you know, we are standing by you in any way that we can.

We will continue to share goodness, the positive sides of life and energy.

We hope to douse you with Feng Shui love and help you weather the times that are here or that are coming. Life isn't always easy – nor does it promise to be. But we know our tools can help mitigate the valleys and help us move toward the peaks. Self care is always a big deal – but even more so now with many dealing with illness, changes in economic or food stability, and sheltering in place. We hope to continue to encourage you with our messages.

For our consultant members and schools, we know as entrepreneurs, working on our own, there are cycles. We want to continue to promote you as often as we can. Your business is important to us. You are important to us. You always have been.

- If you have a blog post we can share, an online event, social media content, or something else – let us know. We will share as much as we are able.

Connections are crucial. Perhaps one of our most important ways to lift each other up are through our online communities. Intentional connections can help us weather the isolation many may feel. [Remember – lean in!]

- Join our public Facebook group, Feng Shui friends – it's for anyone and everyone!
- And specially for you members, our closed Facebook group, the Virtual Chapter; if you haven't been in there lately, please come. Come to our table and let us nurture your spirit and work.

And importantly, we know there are economic ripples throughout the world. We don't want to lose a SINGLE member because you can't pay your dues. We are committed to being there for everyone who needs us – to continue your membership in any way we can.

- If you need help – GET IN TOUCH. We are here. We aren't going anywhere.

As always, we are staying true to our mission. Advancing the growth and promotion of Feng Shui worldwide – because if there was ever a time that Feng Shui at home could help – the time is now! Also, we continue promoting and serving our members through the good and the bad with empowering resources, opportunities and a unified Feng Shui community. It's our tenet. Our core. It's who we are. We will get through this. And so will you.

We got you.
